Description:

Due to the intensely connected nature of the world today, blockchain as a technology has the potential to have far reaching impacts in a relatively short amount of time. This means developing countries may reap the benefits of the technology faster than with previous groundbreaking technologies.

Since blockchains are a form of decentralized, distributed, immutable and transparent ledger, they have the potential to disrupt industries throughout the economy , even in emerging markets.

BLOCKBATAM conference is formulated to announce Batam city as Indonesia's Digital Economic Zone. Blockbatam welcomes all foreign blockchain companies to explore Batam as their APAC hub for blockchain activities.
